

OMMAT SCHOOL 2025

SHARING KNOWLEDGE, STRENGTHENING BIOSECURITY, SECURING THE FUTURE

With the 12th OMMAT School 2025, Abu Dhabi once again confirmed its role as a key hub for the poultry industry in the Middle East. Held under the guiding theme 'Biosecurity for Food Security', the event brought together poultry producers, experts and industry stakeholders from 21 countries, all united by one common objective: to strengthen technical knowledge and promote sustainable, future-oriented egg production.

A Key Knowledge Platform for the Region

For the Gulf region and the wider Middle East, the OMMAT School has developed into far more than a technical event.

It represents a central platform for knowledge transfer, addressing critical topics such as biosecurity, flock health and efficient layer management in a highly practical and region-specific manner.

The participation of more than 100 attendees, including producers, speakers, sponsors and organizers, clearly underlines the importance of this event for the regional poultry sector.

Organised under the patronage of the Abu Dhabi Agriculture and Food Safety Authority, the OMMAT School sends a strong signal regarding the strategic relevance of biosecurity as a foundation for food security in the region.

LOHMANN BREEDERS as a Strategic Partner

As strategic partner of the OMMAT School, LOHMANN BREEDERS contributes far more than genetics alone.

The company brings decades of international expertise, practical experience and technical know-how, actively supporting the development of sustainable egg production systems worldwide.

The OMMAT School 2025 once again demonstrated the crucial role of international cooperation, continuous education and strong partnerships in securing the future of the poultry industry.

